About Me

I am an aspiring full-stack software developer with strong skills in Python, C++, and modern web technologies. I have completed a Full Stack Development course where I built several practical projects, strengthening both my frontend and backend expertise. I also developed a GUI-based application using Python Tkinter, which improved my problem-solving, UI design, and application development skills. I am eager to apply my knowledge in a software house environment and contribute to innovative, high-quality solutions.

PROJECT EXPERIENCE

Hotel Room Reservation System
Python (Tkinter), MySQL
